CHIEFS TO OPEN PLAYOFFS AT HOME

For the first time in ULowell Hockey history, the skating Chiefs earned a home ice position for the upcoming ECAC Division II playoffs. The Chiefs (15-5-1) seeded third, face off against the sixth seeded AIC Yellow Jackets (15-6) this Saturday night at Skate 3 at 8 p.m. In other playoff action, top seeded Bowdoin faces either seeded Maine or Colby, second seeded Merrimac plays seventh seed St. Ansems, and fourth seed Salem State meets fifth seed Holy Cross. Semifinals are scheduled for Wednesday, March 8 with the winners of seeds 1-8 meeting the winner of seeds 4-5, and the victor of the Chiefs and AIC facing the winner of the Merrimac-St. Ansems contest. Finals will be held Saturday, March 11. Home ice is awarded to the higher seed of the two teams.

The Chiefs received the third seed and consideration for the second seed from the ECAC selection because of their undefeated status in 1978. No time in the eleven game streak had the unbeaten Chiefs been closer to defeat than last Wednesday against the tough Middlebury College Panthers. Boasting only two Division II losses prior to the contest, the Panthers led the Chiefs 3-2 entering the third period, before the Chiefs erupted for three unanswered goals to ice the contest 5-3.

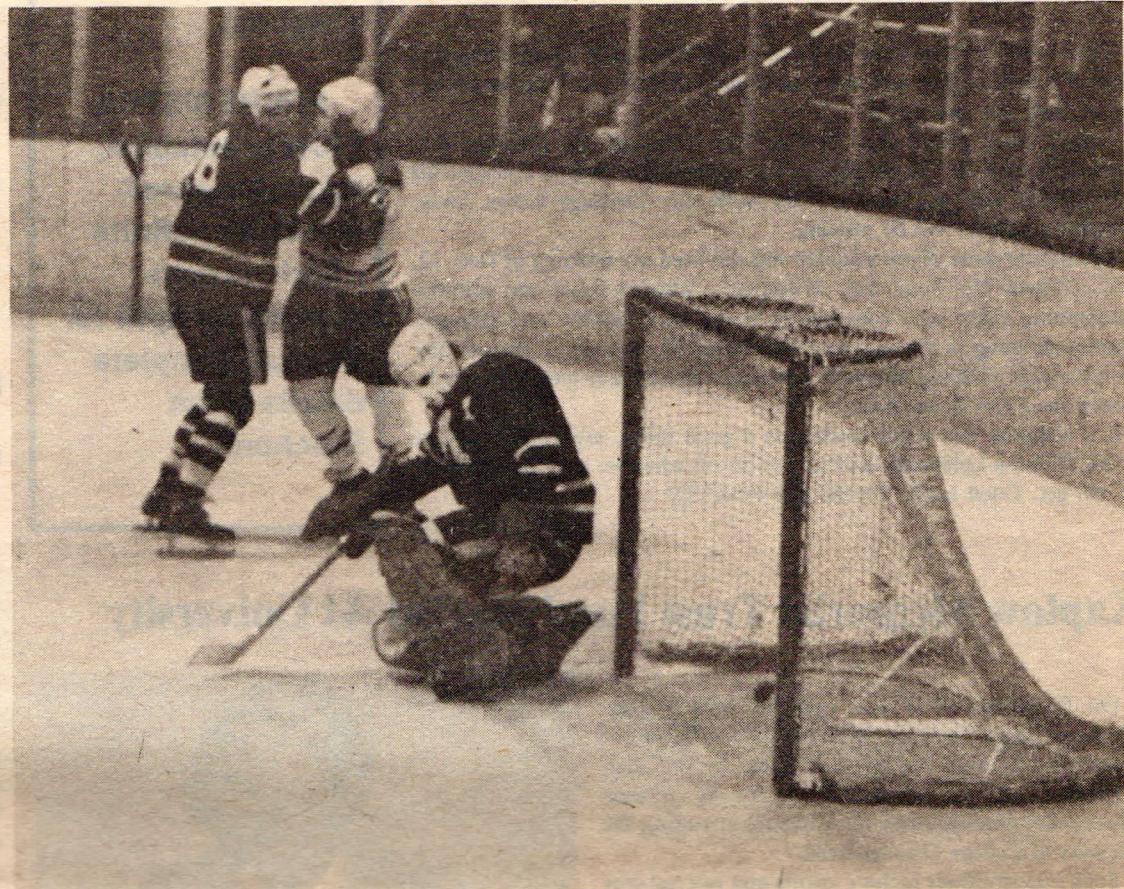

The Chiefs played in spurts in the first period. Goalie Brian Doyle made several key saves of his 45 save total, early in the contest before Chiefs' freshman forward Dean Jenkins scored his tenth goal of the year with a low shot from an impossible angle off the goalie's skate at 11:09 in the first period. Middlebury evened the score at one when junior Mike O'Hara scored in a goal crease scramble in front of Doyle.

Freshman standout Craig MacTavish broke the deadlock early in the second period with his first of three goals he would score at 2:03 on a sensational solo effort past the defenseman and number two ranked goalie Bob Lloyd (G.A. 2.97). But the stubborn Panthers bounced back to score two more goals before the second period would end to lead 3-2 entering the third period.

Fine work all night by the Adams-Jaskul-Scannel line finally paid off in the third period, as wing Steve Scannel scored his twelfth goal of the year on the rebound of Jaskul's shot at 6:58. The two Canadians, Craig MacTavish and Brian Doyle stole the show from there on in, as Mac scored the go ahead and insurance goals, his twenty-second and twenty-third of the year, from linemate Tom Jacobs. Doyle was flawless in the third period stopping countless offensive efforts by the disciplined Middlebury squad. Middlebury outshot the Chiefs 48-46.

Looking ahead to the AIC contest, Coach Riley is discrediting his teams' 7-3 win over AIC earlier in the year. AIC was missing their top scorer Tom Mullen (21 goals, 26 assists in 16 games), and had an injured Mike Smith (20 goals, 27 assists) playing in the matchup. Mullen is in the top five scorers in the ECAC history. Smith leads the ECAC Division II in career assists for a defenseman. Riley stressed the need for aggressive forechecking to pressure AIC suspect goaltending. Goalie Cris Snow has a 5:03 goals against average. Riley expects to form a checking line this week to handle the Mullen line. He also warned of AIC's effective powerplay.

The Chiefs will have to avoid the penalty box. For the Chiefs good goaltending and consistent scoring from all four lines, especially the top line of Yeadon-Mactavish-Jacobs, have been their strengths this year. If the Chiefs can avoid the defensive lapses of recent weeks, they should be in fine shape for the possible Merrimac-Lowell showdown in Andover this coming Wednesday night. A word of caution for the Chiefs' fans is that there will be strict enforcement of NO Alcoholic Beverages in all rinks of the playoffs including Skate 3.

Pizzathon Postponed

Due to the shortage of time and lack of response, the pizzathon which was to be held on February 26 has been postponed till April 30. This event is sponsored by the University of Lowell Community Affairs Committee and the Lowell Jaycees in an effort to help in raising money for the March of Dimes. It is a worthy cause and anyone interested in participating in the pizzathon or in its preparation can contact the Student Information Center. There you will be handed a brochure for keeping a record of your sponsors and the money that you acquire will go to the March of Dimes. Also, prizes will be awarded to the contestants who bring in the most money and can eat the fastest in a given amount of time. This event is a community affair and it is not necessary to be a student at the University of Lowell to participate so please, get some friends and go sign up for the pizzathon to be held on April 30.

Regional Student Nuclear Conference At ULowell

The University of Lowell will host some 200 participants from schools throughout the northeast and Canada March 30 to April 1 for the annual regional meeting of the student chapter of the American Nuclear Society.

The three day conference will be held at the campus and include presentations of research papers by some of the top nuclear and engineering students in the country.

General fields to be discussed include reactor safety, alternative energy sources, economics, alternative fuel cycles, and medical radiation therapy. The papers will be judged by a panel of experts and proceedings published in the Energy Research and Development sponsored "Transactions".

Colleges and Universities planning to send representatives thus far include Carnegie-Mellon University, Massachusetts Institute of Technology, Pennsylvania State University, U.S. Naval Academy, Virginia Polytechnic and State University, the University of Maryland and University of Toronto.

The conference marks the second major nuclear meeting at the campus in the past three years. In July 1976 some 350 scientists and researchers gathered at Lowell for the International Conference on the Interaction of Neutrons with Nuclei.

The University of Lowell has several nuclear and related academic programs including nuclear engineering, physics and radiological health physics. Campus resource facilities for nuclear study and education include a one megawatt research reactor and Van de Graaff particle accelerator.

Plans for the conference are under the direction of Dr. Gilbert Brown, Professor of nuclear engineering at Lowell and faculty advisor to the student A.N.S. chapter. Student officers of the organization also assisting include Stephen W. Scales, president; Thomas J. Miller, Jr., vice president; Thomas S. Earle, secretary; Stanley W. Mitchell, III, treasurer; Michael A. Laham and Glenn Santerre.

Now You've Done It . . .

If you haven't noticed the big print on the front page announcing that Skate-3 will not allow any more alcoholic beverages into home hockey games, well you now know.

I don't know about most of you, but I enjoyed the privilege that Skate-3 allowed us. The six-pack of beer or half-pint helped everyone lift their spirits and get rowdy. Now with our privilege taken away, something natural will be missing.

Apparently some of you wildmen did not heed my warning of Dec. 12, 1977, "Clean Up Your Act, Wildmen", when I wrote an editorial condemning those who consistently broke beer bottles and dropped empties crashing to the concrete floor below the stands. I warned that our privileges to bring alcoholic beverages into hockey games would be evoked, and now it has been.

It is a shame that a few could ruin a good thing, especially with the ECAC Division I play-offs starting tomorrow, when we need all the spirit we can get. Good Luck, Chiefs, GO FOR IT!!

Kaplow Memorial Trust Fund Started At University

On December 15 of last year the Saul Kaplan Memorial Trust Fund was founded for the benefit of University of Lowell students. Initiated by Dr. Alan Kaplan, it is to be used primarily to provide educational opportunities for students attending the Division of College Management.

Such opportunities include grants and interest-free loans to qualified students. The trust will also provide payment of fees for possible guest lectures. New goals may be added as future sponsors contribute to the original sum of several thousand dollars; and while the fund is basically for students of the Division of College Management it is not restricted to this department.

Professor Kaplan has taught here at the university for eight years and is a highly respected member of the Math Department. His family has resided in Lowell and been active in business in this city for over a century. Dr. Kaplan's father, Saul Kaplan, ran The Fenway Clothes Shop for several decades before selling the business shortly before his death. The Clothes Shop was a familiar sight, first on Middlesex Street, and then on Central Street, for many years.

THE NEW LOWELL OFFERING IS NOW ON SALE AT THE BOOKSTORE ON BOTH NORTH CAMPUS AND SOUTH CAMPUS. IT IS THE ONLY LITERARY PUBLICATION COMING OUT OF THE U OF LOWELL. IT IS ONLY A DOLLAR AND YOU GET MORE THAN YOUR MONEY'S WORTH!

NEW LOWELL OFFERING $1.00

The lack of interest among the students of the University of Lowell is commendable. Never in the course of humanity have so many done so little. The University has three international clubs: the French, Spanish and Italian club. Each one is run by a group of enthusiastic students, who are proud of their heritage and culture and wish to share this feeling with the rest of the university. Response, total and complete disinterest. Students are too busy to spend a few hours in the course of an academic year to find out about cultures outside of their own. No one needs to be able to speak a foreign language to be a member of any of these clubs. All we ask is to allow us to show you that we have something to offer, but we need your support and participation.

Lately a great number of the members of these clubs have failed to show up at the meetings. How can we accomplish anything without you?

Show us that you want to participate, these clubs are open to everyone, it could turn out to be lots of FUN.

Attention: Book Exchange Participant

The selling season is just about over. Please stop by the Exchange during the next week to pick up your book or your money. After March 7, any remaining books will be disposed of by the Veterans' Club.

How About a Bank on Campus?

I like the idea about forming our own bank, but how? Who is it who gives the go ahead from the state government side of things? Where could the offices be placed? Would the state government allow a private bank to operate on its property? Should the bank be state run? Please tell us how we can work through problems to become a reality.

Show me a person who has sugar running through his veins, and I'll show you a sweetheart. In keeping with the tradition, old news is good news. I present this article. A few of us went to Phi Sigma Rho's Valentine Party. Some of us even stayed long enough to enjoy it. I don't know why Stretch wanted to get rid of the red heart on her collar, and I don't think Pi Lambda Heart knew either. No fib. The only thing to do when a cold breeze threatens a party, is to throw a coat, scarf, hat, and mittens over the window. It may not keep the ice warm, but at least the guest stop their nervous twitches.

Friday night the pledges (excuse me that should be Pledges) went on their mission. They now know a song and know how many balloons fit in a historic phone booth (notice there was no mention of hot air). A special thanks to TKE for lending more than a helping hand. Do any of the following have a special meaning for you? Let a smile be your umbrella. Raindrops keep falling on my head. Car wash. Light my fire. Pennies from heaven. Singing in the rain. Another week has passed into history at the house on the tundra, and what a quiet week it was. The brothers for a change got into a studying mood out of what appeared a lack of anything else to do. Little went on, on Monday as bowling was cancelled, along with the rest of the day. Tuesday was better with Ernie making it to the finals in wrestling and Perch, yes Perch winning. As for Wednesday, Thursday and Friday they could just have well of been cancelled. Talking about cancellations half of the brothers were down and out due to the flu, wonder if its contagious?

As for coming events our next party is set for March 11, so mark it down now, and the I.F.S.C. Gong show is set for tonight considering this paper gets out on time for a change. As for the coming week the brothers are impatiently waiting for the ski trip to see what havoc they might cause especially to each other. As for drink and sink and University nights competitions will probably be set up, who says you stay sober during the week. As for this Saturday we'll probably be sinking while the Cheifs are winning.

ΟΠ

Last week, O Pi went on a weekend ski trip to an unknown place called Burke Mt., Vt. There was ETA of 4 hours in our 3 shuttles or in Houston Control terms 25 retro-rockets and 52 fuelsticks. These calculations could be wrong, because of the IBM failure to compute the count. The flight going north took on plenty of thrills with our pilot, Capt. Jack providing the entertainment and Rolley Polley giving us an imitation of driving under control.

We finally arrived on the ski slopes at 8:30 in the morning with all of our equipment, a little of our senses and an Italian white stag, who was on a chairlift for the first time. The skiing up there was out of this world in fact the conditions were so beautiful that the weight-lifter wouldn't pull one fuelstick out. There was, also, a first on the mountain when King Arthur battled a bigger sword than his; a chairlift pole and Capt. Jack tried to kiss a nature creature called Miss Birch.

Later that night, we started zooming with Ralph, Loogey, Frigolo, and Xavier towards a bar called Johnnathans. We later back to the Darian Inn (our sleeping accomodations) to find out we had already evicted 15 people from the Inn without even setting off 2 retro-rockets.

Overall, the trip was a fantastic time for our brothers. We had experienced many new things in the state of Vermont including to never Szwartz after Ralph. P.S. Open Band Party and Raffle Drawing at the house March 10.

Greetings from Attica. The house puts you behind bars. But seriously be sure to watch for any up coming events at the house. Don't be shy, drop by the house and have a few beers somebody will always be there to hoist a few.

In sports...the Wannalancit Warriors won again in the basketball raising our records to 3-1 with a 42-29 victory over PI LAM. Rick Costello was high scorer with 22 points, a fine defensive by the rest of the boys brought about the victory. The courageous efforts of the Hammar was also a highlight of the evening as he played with a broken finger. Congratulations to PI LAM for a fine effort. Congratulations to the girls of Kappa

TKE

Faster than speeding bullets; Able to leap across town in a single bound... It's a bird, it's a plane... It's the Pledges of Alpha Sigma Tau!!! These high spirited young women went through hell and high water to get to their destination; and when they did...SURPRISE!! How did they get so wet? Only the Brothers of TKE know for sure.

Well, the time has come for the Tekes to hit the basketball court. After a few weeks of meditation and mental and physical conditioning high atop a remote mountain, TKE's basketball skills are honed to a razor sharp edge. During the next couple of weeks TKE has a long and tough schedule, but the Brothers predict intensity never before seen on the court.

The Pledges of TKE are winding down that long road to Brotherhood this weekend. So far, so good for the neophytes, as the Brothers wish them good luck in their final endeavors.

There is still one Pledge Class left this semester, so come this week to our last Pledge Party (it will be posted throughout the campus). For information call us at 452-8860 or come to the house at 70 Methuen St.

Also members of the Jesus Christ Superstar cast will be posted in next week's Connector. Cast list will also be posted in the South Campus Cafe on the bulletin board on Monday. Thank you.

What did you do when the big storm hit? It was a good time to enjoy a break (if you didn't have to worry about survival). It was also a time to do those things that keep getting put off. The thought of school work crossed the minds of even the most disinterested students. But before long it was Sunday night with classes to begin the next day. Such a long break and so little accomplished. If that is what it was like for you, then you must admit to being what you have busily been trying to deny—that you are a procrastinator.

In the normal course of events, it is very easy to convince others (and yourself) that you hardly have a second to waste. When a week comes along which provides 120 hours without the usual obligations (to break up the wasted time), even with time for celebrations, recreation and the like, the most important things usually are put off until "later." In all fairness, things are probably no worse off than before. But what a stagnant way of life! It shows how trapped we can be by our desires and wants such that what is easiest replaces what is best.

Martin Luther had a refreshing perspective in this regard. He said that we were to "love God and sin boldly." A somewhat odd thing to say. Before the hedonists rejoice and convert and the religious community prepares to burn all his writings, some clarification is in order. Jesus said to love him was to obey his commandments, and that our work was to believe in Him, loving God and our neighbor, being empowered to do good by the Spirit of God. All this and more is implied by the statement "love God". With such a radical re-orientation to conserve and propagate all that is good, it is logical to expect a life of trying out new things, taking risks (love always involves risk), and in so doing making mistakes that are undeniable. This is what is meant by "sinning boldly", and when sin is that obvious, it can be more easily admitted and turned away from.

Procrastination is a denial of life as it is intended to be experienced. It is "subtle sin" under most circumstances. A week off is often needed to expose it. Preachers love to tell the story of persons who "put off" making commitments to Christ who leave the tent meeting only to die in a car wreck. Very often an attempt is made at

"scaring someone into heaven", instead of helping them to look into the choice Christ came to give us, weighing the choice carefully, and then making a decision for or against Him. If you have "put off" looking into a biblically oriented Christian faith and would like to check it out for yourself, you are welcome to join us (on Thursday night, 7:00 p.m., Fox Hall Rm. 606) as we will be studying until spring break these three questions: "Who is this Jesus you have met? How did you come to know Him? What is He asking of you?"

Karate Club News

The club has gotten off to a good start this semester. A warm welcome is extended to the daring souls who have joined the ranks of Mr. Tabata's students, especially to the many women who have joined the class. Karate is no longer only a man's art.

Belated congratulations to Sandra Proia, Debbie Stratford, and Brian Stout for their promotion to 6th kyu orange belt. Also, congratulations are extended to the captain of our club, Steven Palmer, for his appointment of the presidency of the New England Collegiate Karate Conference for the next year. We are looking forward to many improvements in the organization under Steve's guidance.

For the beginners, we'd like to share a little information with you. Your club officers are Captain Steve Palmer, Treasurer Gloria Miele, and Secretary Donna Jenkins. The club has an office in Fox Hall SUB on the North Campus in room 528 which is open Monday through Thursday from 7pm to 10pm. We have a good sized martial arts library there and you're more than welcome to come up and browse to talk karate. There will be a ranking member of the class there who will be able to supply information and answer any questions you might have. The phone number there is 459-3261.

During the weekend of March 17th through 19th the NECKC will hold another Special Training with Tabata-sensei at the Boston University Gym. If you'd like any information about these ask someone who has been to a couple. They are not for the weak of heart.

April 22 is the date of the first combined NECKC-Nakf tournament. This is a very big event and we hope to be represented by at least two novice teams and one advanced team. Keep this in mind when you're working out. There will also be individual women's advanced and novice kata and kumite competitions. Teams will come from as far away as Bermuda to compete. We need a lot of team spirit. We're going to take those trophies home!

ULowell Third in Eastern Championships

Travelling to New Haven, Connecticut for the Eastern Intercollegiate Track and Field Championships, the University of Lowell track team finished third overall among twenty four teams from five states. Leading throughout the meet was the host team, Southern Connecticut State College, who won the meet decisively with 45 points total. However, the Chiefs were a solid second place right up to the last three events when the Coast Guard Academy came from behind by racking up 18 points (more than half their total) by winning the distance medley relay, the two mile relay, and the mile relay—a rare feat—and surpassed U. Lowell by a mere 2½ points. Last year in the Easterns, Lowell finished well back in the standings with only 6 points compared to a 29 point tally in Sunday's competition.

In addition to this fine overall showing, many individually outstanding efforts were turned in by U. Lowell competitors including three first place finishes and two (one inch shy of three) records broken. Leading off the scoring for Lowell was Bill Haskell in the 35 lb. hammer throw. Haskell won the event for the second year in a row with a throw of 63' 7"—one inch from the meet record and three inches from his personal best. Marc Linscheid of Lowell also made the finals for this event with a 55' 10" effort but did not place. In the shot put, Joseph Brice not only added another first place to Lowell's points but he broke the University of Lowell's indoor shot put record of 50' 2" with his heave of 50' 6".

Rounding off the scoring in the field events for the Chiefs was Reggie Still in the long jump. Reggie's leap of 22' 9" was good enough for the second place spot and also broke the existing Lowell record in that event by over a foot. Reggie Still also qualified in the high jump along with Dave Meier and Ken Rillings. All three cleared the bar at 6' 2" but were unable to clear 6' 4" and did not place.

The University scored well in the running events also, starting with a third place finish in the 880 from Leo Kashian. Kashian coasted to a second place in the trial heats to qualify for the final where he placed third overall with an excellent time of 2:00.2, passing three runners with a burst of speed in the last stretch. In the 1000, Ed Gannon took second in his trial heat with a 2:19.5 mark but was unable to place in the final heat.

Rick McCullum and Steve Norman each won their respective trial heats in the high hurdles. Rick McCullum went on not only to win his semi-final heat but to win overall in the final heat in a time of 7.7 seconds. In his semi-final heat, Steve Norman came in just short of third place, not qualifying for the final. In the 60 yard dash, Golden Cage, who beat Onye Amaechi of Holy Cross two weeks ago, placed second in a near photo finish with Dave Farnsworth of Fitchburg State, who has won this event for the third straight year in a row. Cage, who won both his trial and semi-final heats, was clocked at 6.3 seconds.

Finally, in the seeded heat of the two mile, Dave Gelinas ran very impressively, turning in his personal best time of 9:13.8 and barely missing a scoring place in finishing sixth. (The first five places score in each event.) Head Coach George Davis, running coach Dave Willey and Weight Coach Dean Eastman were all pleased with the teams' performance and are looking ahead to this weekend's New England Championships. The team will travel to Tufts University this Saturday the 25th for the two-day competition.

McQuade Qualifies For Div. II

Wrestling Nationals

The Chief's star 177 lb. wrestler Bill McQuade wrestled exceptionally well in the New England Championships placing third and qualifying for the Division II National Championships at the University of Northern Iowa at Cedar Falls.

Also wrestling well for the Chiefs and helping them to a placing of 14th among 24 schools were Frank Lopilato, Dick McClure, Rich McLarney, Steve Rich, Bill Rawnsley, John Pittman, Bob "Worm" Millard and Dave Gagnon.

With only freshmen and sophomores listed among this year's starters the future looks bright for the Chiefs who should be greatly bolstered by the return next season of star 150 lb. Kevin Jarnagin who sat out this season due to knee surgery.

Dean Jenkins and Sam Adams await the faceoff against Middlebury College.

Haskell All New England Champion

Bill Haskell of the Lowell University track team is the 1978 Division I New England Indoor Track and Field Champion in the 35 lb. weight throw. Setting a new facility record at the Harvard University Cage at 62' 6", Haskell was essentially unchallenged throughout the competition. Also the Eastern Intercollegiate Athletic Association (EIAA) Champion in his event, Haskell is Coach George Davis' second New England champion since becoming head coach. In 1976, Harry Riley won the 440 in this meet, breaking the meet record in 48.7 seconds.

Haskell wasn't the only Chief to rank among the best in New England this past Saturday and Sunday. Just in participating in the meet, you must be among the top 15-25 competitors in your event in all New England, and Lowell has seven men of this caliber.

In the first day of competition, Rick McCullum and Steve Norman in the high hurdles placed 1st and 2nd respectively in their trial heats to advance to the quarter finals. Here, Steve Norman came just short of 3rd place, needed to go to the semis, in a time of 7.8. But Rick McCullum did better, placing 2nd in his quarter final heat and advancing to the next day's semis with his mark of 7.78 seconds. McCullum went on to place again in the semi-finals (3rd) and finished a very impressive sixth overall in the finals with a time of 7.8.

The story was similar in the dash. Golden Cage and Calvin Pittman placed 1st and 2nd respectively in their trial heats, but Pittman (6.55) was fourth in his quarter final, not making it to the semis. Golden Cage, however, went all the way to the finals, winning his quarter final heat and placing 2nd in his semi-final. His time of 6.48 in the finals was enough to place 4th among the fastest runners New England has to offer.

In the long jump, Reggie Still qualified for Lowell, but his leap of 21' 6" was not enough to win him a place. Joseph Brice held his own in the shot put against very stiff competition and placed 7th overall, throwing the 16 lb. shot a distance of 51' 2½". This was good enough to break the school record and was the fifth time Joe has done it this season. Only a sophomore, he is likely to break it five or ten more times.

Continuing to compete in regionally and nationally oriented meets, the Chiefs will travel this weekend to Princeton, New Jersey, for the ICAAAA championships. The following week, they will participate in the national NCAA championships in Detroit, Michigan.

The TI-57. The super slide-rule that'll get you into programming... fast and easy.

Even if you've never programmed before.

For the student who requires slide-rule functions, the TI-57 delivers an exceptional combination of advanced mathematical and statistical capabilities. From functions such as trig, logs, powers, roots and reciprocals...to mean, variance, standard deviation and much more.

And as long as you're in the market for a super slide-rule calculator, why not buy one that can also put the power, speed and convenience of programming at your disposal?

Programming a calculator simply means giving it a logical set of instructions for accomplishing what you want it to do. Programming enables you to solve lengthy and repetitive problems quickly by substituting new variables into the set of instructions which you have already entered into the machine.

The end result is more efficient use of your time in problem-solving.

All this and more is explained in our unique, illustrated, easy-to-follow guidebook, "Making Tracks Into Programming." This 200-page book comes with the TI-57. It contains simple, step-by-step instructions and examples to help you quickly learn to use programming functions to make your problem-solving faster, more accurate and fun.
